

Effective Password Recovery for Everyone

September 2011. Passcovery Co. Ltd. announces the release of two new versions of its high-powered programs for recovering lost passwords to Microsoft Excel and Microsoft Word files: Accent EXCEL Password Recovery 6.0 and Accent WORD Password Recovery 6.0.

When developing the new family of products from Accent Password Recovery, Passcovery Co. Ltd. engineers worked hard to make the software easier to use, expand compatibility and make password recovery faster than ever.

Now our programs have a built-in macro-language to create password mutation rules for use in dictionary attacks, as well as expanded mask settings for brute force attacks.

Both Accent EXCEL Password Recovery 6.0 and Accent WORD Password Recovery 6.0 have expanded capabilities, with support for new types of encryption and improved support for the popular Excel/Word 6-2010 formats. The programs also now support the earliest file types created in Microsoft Excel/Word 2 – 5.

Accent EXCEL Password Recovery 6.0 and Accent WORD Password Recovery 6.0 now include support for AVX commands, which reduces password recovery time by up to 20% on currently supported Intel processors with Sandy Bridge micro-architecture, as well as on the upcoming AMD Bulldozer.

Accent Password Recovery programs make the latest technology easy to use, with guaranteed recovery speeds for any passwords to files created in any version of Microsoft Excel and Microsoft Word.

Licenses and Pricing

Accent EXCEL Password Recovery and Accent WORD Password Recovery have demonstrated long-term, stable operation on all versions of the Microsoft Windows operating system. The price for a single license depends on usage: USD 30 for home use and USD 45 for corporate use.
